EUTR Compliance

Falcon Panel Products have undertaken significant audit tracking to ensure that Streply® can be assessed as 'negligible risk' under the terms of the European Union Timber Regulation (EUTR). This audit work includes extensive field visits to the supplier, undertaken by senior management representatives. Our comprehensive EUTR appraisal includes provision of all relevant documentation from original timber sources to final production mill, including translations for all Chinese language documents.

From February 2019 Streply® products will be manufactured exclusively from temperate hardwood materials for both core and face veneers.

Our EUTR assessment is complemented by ongoing risk mitigation, achieved via regular species testing of Streply® products to ensure that content species match the manufacturer's claims.

Construction Products Regulation Compliance

Streply® has been independently tested to meet the basic requirements of the Construction Products Regulation in accordance with the requirements of EN 13986:2004, and displays a CE mark on the product packaging to demonstrate this. The product is tested for use in structural applications in 9mm and thicker sections as defined in EN 13986:2004.
